

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In accordance with an embodiment of the present invention, a system and method are described for enhancing the viewing of a broadcast movie with independently acquired metadata. The metadata is linked with the movie by a hash signature that is generated from at least one scene change in the movie. The broadcast movie and features provided by the metadata are automatically recorded to a DVD for subsequent viewing.